Dr. Quinn Capers IV, a specialist in cardiovascular medicine and interventional cardiology at Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center, has been named one of America's Best Doctors every year from 2009 -2016. Dr. Capers is associate dean for admissions in The Ohio State University College of Medicine and an associate professor of clinical medicine and director of Transradial Coronary Interventions in the Division of Cardiovascular Medicine. He earned his medical degree from Ohio State and completed his internship, residency and fellowship from Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Capers has received numerous teaching awards at Ohio State's Medical Center and was a National Research Service Award grantee of the National Institutes of Health as a cardiology fellow.

Dr. Capers has performed over 3,000 coronary stent procedures, many in heart attack victims, and is an expert at performing these procedures through the wrist. Under his guidance, the OSU Medical Center Ross Heart Hospital Cath labs have become a "radial first" lab where over 80% of procedures are performed this way. This transformation has been accompanied by a sustained reduction in vascular and other complications in the Cath lab.

Mended Hearts members seek to inspire, comfort and support heart patients and their families and people at risk of heart disease. Since March 2011, our central Ohio Chapter has grown to over 290 members and made over 7,000 heart patient visits at the Ross and University Hospital East. We share heart success stories, strive to stay healthy long-term, and host educational meetings each month!
